NOTED COMEDY TEAM GUEST MC'S AT FORUM

Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, well known radio and television stars, will be the guest MCs at Forum Night, Friday, Feb. 17, Winter Carnival officials announced yesterday.

The pair were named top comedians in Canadian television in a New Liberty magazine poll recently. Their half-hour show goes on bi-monthly on the CBC network, and concentrates on satire. They do their own script-writing.

Lifelong friends, they were among the first entertainers to go into the Pacific theatre during the last World War. Later they produced a CBM radio show for a number of years, before switching to television work.

Wayne and Shuster are Toronto residents, and will join with several entertainers who will come to Montreal to participate in carnival activities.

Students Hosted By Rotary Club

Over 200 McGill students, hailing from foreign lands, were hosted by the Rotary Club of Montreal at a special reception in the Sheraton Mount Royal Hotel Sunday, along with foreign students from Sir George and the University of Montreal.

Highlight of the entertainment for the students — who represented over 50 countries — was a sketch written and directed by members of Alpha Omicron Pi, McGill sorority. McGill medical student Jack White acted as master of ceremonies.

The students were addressed by Rotary Club president Joseph Lynes, and then saw color slides of Canada. They were welcomed by F. W. Dundas, chairman of the international service committee.

Workshop Changes Meeting Time To 1 pm

Bert Cannings, news editor of radio station CFCF, will be the guest speaker today as McGill's Radio Workshop announces a new time for its weekly meetings.

The meeting will be held in the Union ballroom from 1 to 2 pm, a switch from the usual Tuesday evening time.

Mr. Cannings, a noted crime reporter on the west coast when he served as editor of radio station CKWX, Vancouver, will tell of his experiences when he did a series of on the spot broadcasts from Vancouver police cars.

'Wet Paint' On TV Feb. 6

The Red and White Revue's production, "Wet Paint", will soon be featured on the CBC-TV show, "Our Town". Filming crews began taking motion pictures at a rehearsal last night, and will continue through tomorrow.

Telecast of the films will be

Saul Hayes To Speak In Vocation Series

Saul Hayes, National Executive Director of the Canadian Jewish Congress will be the guest speaker as Hillel's series of discussions on "Vocations within the Jewish Community" are resumed this afternoon at 1 pm.

The series of alternate Tuesday discussions is of interest to all students who are thinking of careers, especially in the manifold profession of services within the Jewish Community.

Mr. Hayes is a graduate of McGill University in Arts and in Law. For the past 16 years he has guided the affairs of the Canadian Jewish Community as Director of Congress, the representative voice and unifying instrument of Canadian Jewry.

shown on CBMT on Feb. 6, and will feature various phases of what goes on behind the Revue. One week earlier, on Monday, Jan. 30, Ron Clark, "Wet Paint's" Producer, will appear on Tabloid in connection with the Revue. The same night, Clark's latest recording will be aired on the Denny Vaughan Show by Joan Fairfax.

Ticket Sales Brisk

Ticket sales started yesterday, and first reports indicate that a large number of tickets have been sold. Seats for Saturday night are at a premium, but good seats still may be bought for the other nights. Marty Blatt, ticket manager, expressed the hope that students buy their tickets early, both for their own benefit and to facilitate the work of his committee. A few girls are needed to sell tickets in the Arts Building; anyone interested is asked to call Marty at DE. 5091.

Male Attendants Needed

Cloakroom attendants, preferably male, are needed for the nights of the show. Irwin Margolese, DO 6646, may be contacted in this connection.

All dancers and those in "Man in the Moon" are reminded that their attendance is required at rehearsal tonight in connection with the television show. Rehearsals begin at 7:30 sharp.

S.E.C. SENDS STUDENTS UNDER W.U.S. PROGRAM

The World University Service of Canada has announced that its plans for the 1956 Summer Educational program will consist of five weeks of study tours in different regions of Europe, followed by a three-week seminar in Germany.

The purpose of the study tours is to provide the participants with a basic understanding of European conditions which will enable them to contribute more effectively to the seminar. The students will travel in five groups with a leader and will visit one of the following areas: Germany, Greece, Spain, Portugal, and the U.S.S.R. After the study tours they will assemble in Germany with students from other countries to discuss the topic "Universities and Freedom." They will then have two weeks time to do as they please with.

The S.E.C. has granted $150 towards the expenses of each participant and has promised $325 towards the passage of one. Each student will be required to provide a minimum of $100 for personal expenses, as well as funds for the two weeks free time, when he will be responsible for his expenses in full. Two or three students will be chosen to represent McGill.

Application forms for the tour are available in the S. E. C. offices in the Union, and should be returned there upon completion. Candidates will be chosen on the basis of academic standing and participation in extra-curricular activities. Representatives will be announced in mid-February.

Rabbis Meet Students In Noonhour Debate

Two Montreal rabbis will join forces against two McGill students in one of the feature events of the noonhour debating program being conducted at Hillel House, at 1 pm today.

Rabbi Samuel Cass will join with Rabbi Dr. Solomon Frank and take the affirmative of the topic, Resolved That Religion Is Man's Only Salvation. They will be opposed by Doug Cohn and Dan Kingstone.

Dr. Frank is leader of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue and active in many community affairs. The two students are among the top debaters at McGill.

MARKANEN ANNOUNCED 'DREAM DATE' WINNER

The Plumber's Ball committee announced yesterday that Murray Markanen, B. Eng. 5, has won the "Dream Date" with ticket number 162.

Murray and his date will be treated to a complete evening, courtesy of the Engineering Undergraduate Society and various Montreal commercial organizations.

Myriad Prizes

The prizes will include: Formal attire from McLaughlin and Harrison Tailors, an orchid corsage from Louis Quinze, Cadillac Limousine service from Murray Hill Taxis, a complete dinner for two at Ruby Foo's, and a special table at the Ball with complete refreshment privileges.

Photo Record

As a permanent memento of the evening, the Plumber's Ball Committee has arranged for a photographer to capture the highlights of the Dream Date. The photographs will be bound in an album and presented to the girl who will also receive an assortment of Chanel perfumes donated by the Committee. The boy will receive a Moroccan hand-tooled leather wallet though the courtesy of the House of Seagram.

Tickets Still Available

The Plumber's Ball Committee has announced that there are still a number of tickets available, which will be sold in the Engineering Building between 12 and 2 pm every day this week.

SCOPE BRINGS TEMPLE DANCER HERE THURSDAY

Shivaram, world famous Hindu Temple dancer, will perform his Kathakali arts on Thursday at 8:30 pm, in Moyse Hall, under the sponsorship of SCOPE, it was announced yesterday.

Presently touring Canada, Shivaram has attempted to teach people more about temple dancing, especially among universities. He has previously performed at Toronto, Northwestern, Stanford, Alberta, Washington, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and British Columbia universities.

The dancer, who was "discovered" by Miss Louise Lightfoot at a village temple school, can express a vocabulary of nearly 800 gestures from 24 fundamental positions.

He uses his lithe body to tell stories, and has performed in 12 different countries. He has been acclaimed by critics in every one.

Clinic At RVC

A Marriage Clinic will be held on Wednesday, at 8:30 pm in the Common Room at RVC. The clinic is being sponsored by the Women's Union and will be given by Dr. George Simpson of the Montreal General Hospital and is open to all women students.

The clinic will include a lecture and a question period.

POLITICAL APATHY

The moribund, lethargic state of Canadian politics is reflected in the absence of visiting politicians from the McGill campus. There was a time when the Universities, more especially in Britain, were the scene of major political pronouncements. That students at McGill are interested in politics was demonstrated by the large turn out at the Wright-Binder debate on Marxism, and the rapt attention and enthusiastic response of the audience. Surely representatives of the other political parties could be prevailed upon to speak in open debate upon controversial topics. There is a large field here for initiative on the part of the Debating Union and ASUS in choosing topics, and picking politicians. No true politician can resist an audience, and some of the apathetic attitude taken to politics could be countered by a series of open debates on the McGill. McGill is the nearest major University to the centre of government in Ottawa. How often are we given a chance to hear a prominent government figure discuss or defend his party or his department's policy?

It appears that the average Canadian is more sure of what he does not want in a government body, rather than what he does want. An attitude of indifference to political matters in a democracy is not a healthy sign. In time the indifference extends not only to who governs, but also to how the governing is done. By encouraging the visit of politicians to this University, some sort of rebirth in political interest could conceivably take place.

THE AIR AROUND US

In the guide books, no doubt, Montreal is described as having "an atmosphere all of its own". Other and more honest appraisals of the atmosphere of the city, verbally expressed, range from "This town smells" to a milder "The air these days is becoming unbreathable". The problem of atmospheric pollution in Montreal is by no means as serious as in London, where "Smog" a filthy, almost solid compound of smoke, fog, dirt and tainted air gave rise to an entirely new enterprise — the manufacture of smog masks, nor is it as in such American as San Francisco, where the dirt laden atmosphere fills the canyons of city streets and stays for days.

Nonetheless, there have been several occasions recently when the city literally smelt like hell — due to some sulphurous factory smoke permeating the whole atmosphere. From the Mount, practically any day, the smoke can be seen settling in layers over the city. London has begun to combat the smog problem by declaring a Smokeless Zone; several other British cities have followed suit.

Contaminated air has been authoritatively cited as the major cause of lung cancer. Surely some effective legislation controlling the amount and type of combustion products poured into the air by the industries in the Montreal area is advisable. Among the other benefits such legislation would confer would be the advantage that we would then inhale, untainted, the smells issuing from the breweries in the district.

Controversy

Sir:

The recent blazing controversy over the absence of faculty contributions to the Fig Leaf, involving as it has the emotions of a substantial chunk of the student body, at last drives us reluctantly into your columns for a modest statement of our immutable editorial policy.

Potential jokers, it is continually pointed out to us, abound in our Faculty. The Deans of some of our faculties and residences, or the Senate as a group, are frequently suggested. Many of them do not even know they are here.

In rebuttal may we bring to the attention of your devoted subscribers the following points:

1. We have already printed a posthumous contribution pirated from the collected works of a faculty member. The inference that

Why So Venomous?

Sir:

I read Mr. Kingsbury's article. I read it twice. And I come up each time with the same conclusion: either this article is intended as a jest, and if so it is a poor and vulgar one, or the man who wrote it is sincere, and in that case he is a fool, and, what's more, a dangerous fool.

When I started reading your "prose", Mr. Kingsbury, I first registered complete amazement: how could anybody write such nonsense? Then I laughed and decided to shrug it off; it certainly did not and could not affect me. But then I realised that this article was not intended to influence the law-students — (give us at least credit to know enough to disregard such vile attacks) — No, with due respect to all of them, I thought of the other students at McGill, in the other Faculties, who perhaps do not know what the law and the legal profession really are, and might be gullible enough to believe you. If that were to be the case, God forbid! no self-respecting co-ed would want to be seen with any of us "lawyer-type" — (Or did you mean "lower-type", Mr. Kingsbury?) — student . . . Gad! What a prospect!!!

No, Mr. Kingsbury, let us not have the freedom of the Press become the licence of the Press. Nobody should be able to write that kind of trash and get away with it.

Mr. Kingsbury, you do not seem to like many people, do you? Or such widely accepted things as Religion, Society, Justice . . . Why? And why so vehement a grudge against lawyers? Why be so venomous? Have you, perchance, had recently a bad experience with one of them? And you thought up that article as a base way to retaliate? I always felt that insults were the last refuge of a desperate, juvenile mind.

Still, if such is your idea of how to express one's opinions, you are free to do so, but pray save us at least from flagrant contradictions in your exposé. You say "Do not condemn a lawyer simply because he is filthy and immoral" — (how nice of you, Sir, Thank you) — but you place him in the same category as murderers and dope-peddlers. You say "You lawyers are as immoral as the men you lock up", but further on "I do not bear you any malice". Make up your mind, will you?

Letters to the Editor

And, still according to you, the Western law is filthy, lawyers are filthy, Moses is a ghoul, Jesus not much better, "Society is run by a lot of lousy bastards", prisons are houses of death . . . Hell! What have you left? Not much, it seems . . . Ah, but yes! There is Mr. Kingsbury and his "pure bosom"! To quote you, dear Sir, "horse dung"!

You will never get anywhere by trying to destroy everything and start from scratch. Anarchists of all kinds, shapes and sizes have tried it unsuccessfully before you. It is said that God only can create something from nothing. All that we poor, degraded, dejected, dejected (sic!) human beings can do is to improve on what is already there. You are kind enough to admit that progress has been made, that the law is "better than it ever was" — (what else?) — and is upgrading itself. But this is not enough for you, is it? You want to hasten this process, don't you? You should know better than that. A master-piece is only achieved after patient, incessant labour. And the type of law you advocate — (pardon the expression!) — would have to be a flawless master-piece to satisfy you. Exacting, are you not?

Well, let me tell you this: of course Society isn't so good, of course the law is at times brutal, you sometimes have to fight fire with fire. Of course some lawyers are filthy, but you get rotten apples everywhere, in every walk of life. But what do you expect of Man? Perfection? Phooey! You know that does not exist "lsl-bàs". Errare humanum est. "Nul n'est parfait en ce bas-monde", as we say in French. And you have to accept it, whether you like it or not. Let he who has never sinned throw the first stone. . . . Can you???

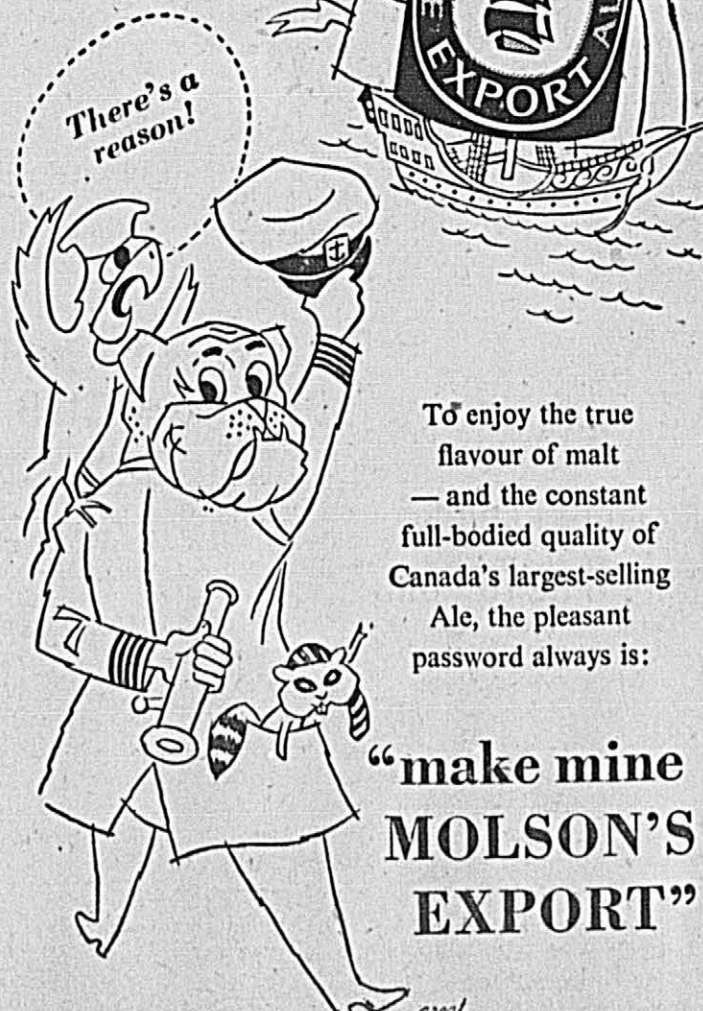

And please, Mr. Kingsbury, please, do not refer to the Deuteronomy. You know as well as I do that these laws were devised for a People that had just come out of slavery, that had lived in a totally different environment for generations and were trying to find themselves again. They were hard people, tough people, and they needed harsh laws to keep them in line. To drag out an over-worked phrase, Mr. Kingsbury, times have changed, times have certainly changed.

But to change these laws to the extent where "the Society must pay to the criminal the debt it owes his broken life", no thank you! No thank you!!!

Read the newspapers, Mr. Kingsbury, read them: you will see that in the past week or so two little

REDMEN RAMBLINGS

by Norm Zavalkoff

This year's edition of the Redmen basketball team is potentially the best team Joe Anderson has assembled in the past five years. Individually the players are of as high a calibre as any who have performed for Anderson since he took over as basketball coach at McGill.

But the amiable southerner has been having more than his share of trouble in teaching some of the members of his squad certain basic principles of the game. In practices, the team runs through its patterns with a precision that would surprise some observers who have been watching McGill teams for the past few years. Once out on the court in a game, however, it would be difficult to recognize the Redmen as the same team.

The game against Queen's on Athletics Night was an excellent example of this. The Gaels were a very weak team and McGill, by all rights, should have won the game by a handy margin. To the consternation of Anderson, however, the team blew repeated chances by shooting the ball from the corners or well outside the keyhole, thus giving the Gaels the ball and a chance to score without retaliation by the Redmen.

If the Redmen are to come close to fulfilling the potential they possess, there will have to be a stronger concentration on the part of the players on the strategy and patterns set forth by Anderson. During the intervals when they tried to set up their plays and patterns instead of shooting at random at the basket, the Redmen looked like a first class basketball team. Unfortunately, these intervals were infrequent.

Although the football season is still some time away, Larry Sullivan has been keeping the post office busy with large stacks of correspondence to and from many boys who are interested in coming to McGill for an education and to play football. Sullivan looks to Rick Adrian to have a great season next fall. Adrian tore the league apart during the last two games of the year and Sullivan feels that he is just gaining the maturity and strength to develop into a great running back... Congratulations are due to Barry Thompson who has come up with a championship water polo team in his first year as coach at McGill. His swimming team is also favoured to take the title which would give McGill its first sweep of the water sports in over a decade... McGill's defending champion ski team will also be favoured to take the title this year. Such outstanding all-around performers as Pete Reid and Laurie Redpath will be back with the team... Reid is also in training under Jackie Carroll for the Olympic Trials where he hopes to earn a place as a half-miler on the Olympic team.

POST-MORTEM

by IRWIN SANKOFF

Laval University's Red and Gold, cellar dwellers in the Intercollegiate hockey league last season, continued to roll over all opposition last week as they racked up two more victories to move into first place in the league with a perfect five and nothing record. The Quebecers provided the surprise of the year when they trounced last season's champion Varsity Blues 3-2 in the Queen City last Friday night. The loss was the first in two years for the Torontonians.

Saturday evening the Rouge et Or clobbered the U of M Carabins by a 5-0 count in a wild game featuring a three goal performance by Georges Lemieux and 25 penalties including seven majors and a misconduct. Toronto are in second spot followed by U of M. McGill are in the league basement with no wins in four starts. The Redmen are idle in league play next week, but will go to Lake Placid for a pair of games with the Lake Placid Roamers. The next league game is on Saturday February 4, when the Red and White hook up with Laval. The posters advertising this game, and placed at various spots on the campus have overlooked a minor detail. They have the game time stated as 8:30 pm. Actually if you show up at the Forum at that time you will see the Detroit Red Wings and Canadiens in action. The McGill game is scheduled for 2:30 in the afternoon.

Unofficial individual scoring statistics as released by the McGill Daily Hockey Writers Association show right winger Ken Linesmen of Varsity as leading point getter in the league. Linesmen has scored six goals to date this season and assisted on five others for an 11 point total. His six tallies are tops in the league in that department. Georges Lemieux of Laval holds down second spot with five goals and four helpings. Bob Lafreniere and R. Lagace of Laval, along with Don Cossar of Toronto all have eight points for third spot.

The highest McGill scorers are Dick Baltzan, Pete Constable and Brian McCann, all with six points. Maurice Leblanc of U of M is the League badman with 50 minutes in penalties.

CHEERLEADERS WANTED

Practices are being held every Saturday afternoon at the gym for all male students interested in being cheerleaders at McGill football games next season. All those interested are invited to attend practices as several good cheerleaders are needed.

The cheerleaders are being coached by Marv Johnson P.E. 3, a former member of Michigan States famed cheerleading unit. Marv hopes to have quite a show ready by fall. Let us hope that McGill will have plenty to cheer about come next football season.

COED VOLLEYBALL TEAM CHOSEN FOR TOURNIES

During the past three months enthusiastic girls have spent many hours improving their volleyball potentials under the able coaching of Miss Gerstman. The team which will represent McGill at the intercollegiate tournament on February 3 and 4 consists of Lorraine Brendér, Betty Cohen, Carol Gowing, Frieda Lang, Dianne Matheson, Maryann McNab, Sheila Morris, Shirley Nadell, Elaine Shamy, Beverley Smith, Sandra Trehub, and Jill Comay.

It should be noted that four freshmen are amongst those chosen. This is largely due to the unusually strong participation by first year students.

This year's team should be one of the strongest yet, according to the remaining members of last year's squad.

Miss Gerstman has arranged several exhibition games to prep the team for the coming tournament. This Wednesday McGill will play at MacDonald. Saturday several games against Queen's have been scheduled at Kingston, and, as a final test the team will oppose the Latvian volleyball team, a strong squad of the Montreal Ladies' Volleyball League.

To date, the team has beaten MacDonald and Strathcona Academy in exhibition games.

WHY SO VENOMOUS?

girls, respectively 5 and 13 years of age, have been raped and murdered in Toronto. And once the rapist has been arrested, you are furious because "he ends up in this most degrading of places, the prison cell, which is stripped bare of everything the criminal mind needs to evolve into something higher"??? What should we give him, a suite at the Waldorf? And maybe a couple of servants, too?

Come, now, don't be ridiculous. What do you do with a murderous beast? You destroy it before it can cause any more harm. The "thing" that rapes a girl of 5 is not a man, it is a dangerous animal which Society must put out of circulation. For keeps. Punishment is immoral, you say, but what is crime? Seems to me you are back to the old problem of the chicken and the egg.

The solution is not to love the Hitlers and the Capones, their warped minds could not understand it. The solution is to cut out, in time, those criminals that can be rehabilitated from those that cannot or will not be. Then you cure the formers, — after all, they are sick people, they can be cured, and so many of them actually are —, but for God's sake, don't let the others out! They would only rape, kill, or steal again.

No Sir, I have no use for the unrepentant criminal, as you put it. He is a menace to the Society and must be eradicated. Dura lex, sed lex.

And please, refrain from pressing my filthy self to your pure bosom. Not only might that get you dirty, but I'm queer that way: I prefer girls.

Roland Durand.

Community Camps Seek Students As Counsellors

Montreal's three Jewish, Community Camps are organizing an intensive search for college students who will act as counsellors during their 1956 vacations.

Mrs. Alta Kahn, executive director of the organization, whose members are Camp B'nai B'rith, Camp Wooden Acres and Laurentian Fresh Air Camp, said that the camps wish to hire a larger number of counsellors who are studying at local universities.

Last summer, she pointed out, over 50% of the counsellors were students of McGill University, Sir George Williams and MacDonald Colleges. The organization hopes to raise that figure to 85% or 90%, Mrs. Kahn revealed.

"The offer is especially attractive to college students" Mrs. Kahn said "because many of them are able to use their earnings for tuition fees for the ensuing year."
